

API classes are not captured in this class diagram as there is not much of a design pattern there to emphasise.

MVC architecture can be seen with controller, model and view

